

Marketplace Seller Policy Handbook (Excerpt)

Sample knowledge-base document • For SellerPulse RAG corpus • Not a real marketplace policy

1. Listing Content Standards

All product listings must accurately describe the item's condition, materials, dimensions, and included accessories. Title and description must not include unrelated keywords added only to influence search ranking.

Product images must depict the actual item being sold. Stock photos are permitted only when clearly representative of the exact variant listed (color, size, model).

2. Review Guidelines

Sellers may ask buyers to leave honest feedback about their order, but may not condition any discount, refund, free item, or other incentive on leaving a positive review, or on leaving any review at all.

Prohibited practices include:

- Offering a gift card, free product, or refund in exchange for a 5-star review.
- Asking a buyer to remove or change a negative review in exchange for compensation.
- Posting or soliciting reviews for products the reviewer never purchased.

Violations may result in listing suspension and are reported to the marketplace trust & safety team.

Table 1 below shows the enforcement tier applied based on violation severity.

Violation Severity	Example	First Offense	Repeat Offense
Minor	Friendly reminder email asking for honest feedback	Warning notice	Warning notice
Moderate	Offering a discount code in exchange for a 5-star review	7-day listing suspension	30-day listing suspension
Severe	Paying a third party to post fake reviews	Immediate listing removal	Account termination

3. Inventory & Fulfillment

Listings must be marked out-of-stock or deactivated within 24 hours of inventory reaching zero. Sellers may not continue accepting orders for items they cannot fulfill within the stated delivery window.

4. Pricing

Sellers set their own prices but may not use deceptive strike-through ('was' price) claims unless the item was actually offered at that price for a continuous prior period as defined in the full pricing policy.

5. Communication with Buyers

All buyer-facing messages, including review replies, must be professional and may not contain promotional links unrelated to resolving the buyer's issue. Automated messages must be clearly reviewed before sending; sellers remain responsible for their content.